Here's the dm i got from @hatsunemiku , belittling my experience. Shame @cfm_miku_en you have someone using the miku name to bring harm and slander to someone who just attempted, something that has NOTHING TO DO WITH THIS

So the first thing you do, after coming back from a LITERAL “suicide attempt”, is come after me? Someone you don’t know on the internet lmao? Very attention seeking behavior, and just like the girl in the video, you are misinformed but don’t care because it’s a “good topic” to talk about. I’m not gonna sit here and type a 20 paragraph explanation just for you to NOT post it the way she also did NOT post it. Because it doesn’t fit your narrative of “oh this person is an abuser and HACKED THIS ACCOUNT.” You’re a fool, and the reason, despite repeatedly being mass reported and harassed, nothing has happened to my account, is because it’s MINE, ITS NOT HACKED, AND I DONT RUN IT TO “GET BACK” AT ANYONE. THE FUNNIEST PART IS, YOU ARE LITERALLY HELPING A STALKER HARASS ME A DECADE AFTER I ENDED OUR RELATIONSHIP BY SPINNING THIS NARRATIVE FURTHER.
I will continue to block anyone who furthers an untrue narrative, or harasses me. You included. Simple as that. I don’t deserve to be bothered. Thanks. Have a good one.
5:24 AM
Also, just for the record, I’m not calling your suicide attempt attention seeking behavior, I’m calling you feeding into untrue drama for engagement attention seeking behavior. Because it is. You people care more about RTs than the truth.
7:16 AM
You’re 32 years old acting like this. Lol.
Also you make NSFW art of a character that’s canonically a minor.... Like wtf are you harassing me for?

im so angry. @cfm_miku @cfm_miku_en you need to look into this (un)official @hatsunemiku account they will openly joke to kys and then mock your own suicide attempt in dms everyone thinks that @hatsunemiku is a main vocaloid account and I wont support a company or individual who blasts my attempt

Im going offline for the moment. This has me so fucked up.

so @cfm_miku_en you have the power here, do you really want someone who mocks others mental health representing miku ?? everyone already thinks @hatsunemiku is the main acc (its not) but I wouldn't want to support a company where their rep mocks my suicide attempt

Yes, social media platforms can take your handle if it infringes on someone's trademark, impersonates another user, violates their terms (like for inactivity or squatting), or if they deem it necessary for policy enforcement, giving large companies significant power through their terms of service and trademark claims. While they often prefer not to get involved, they can change or remove usernames, especially for inactive accounts or when a large brand with a trademark makes a claim, with the final decision resting with the platform.

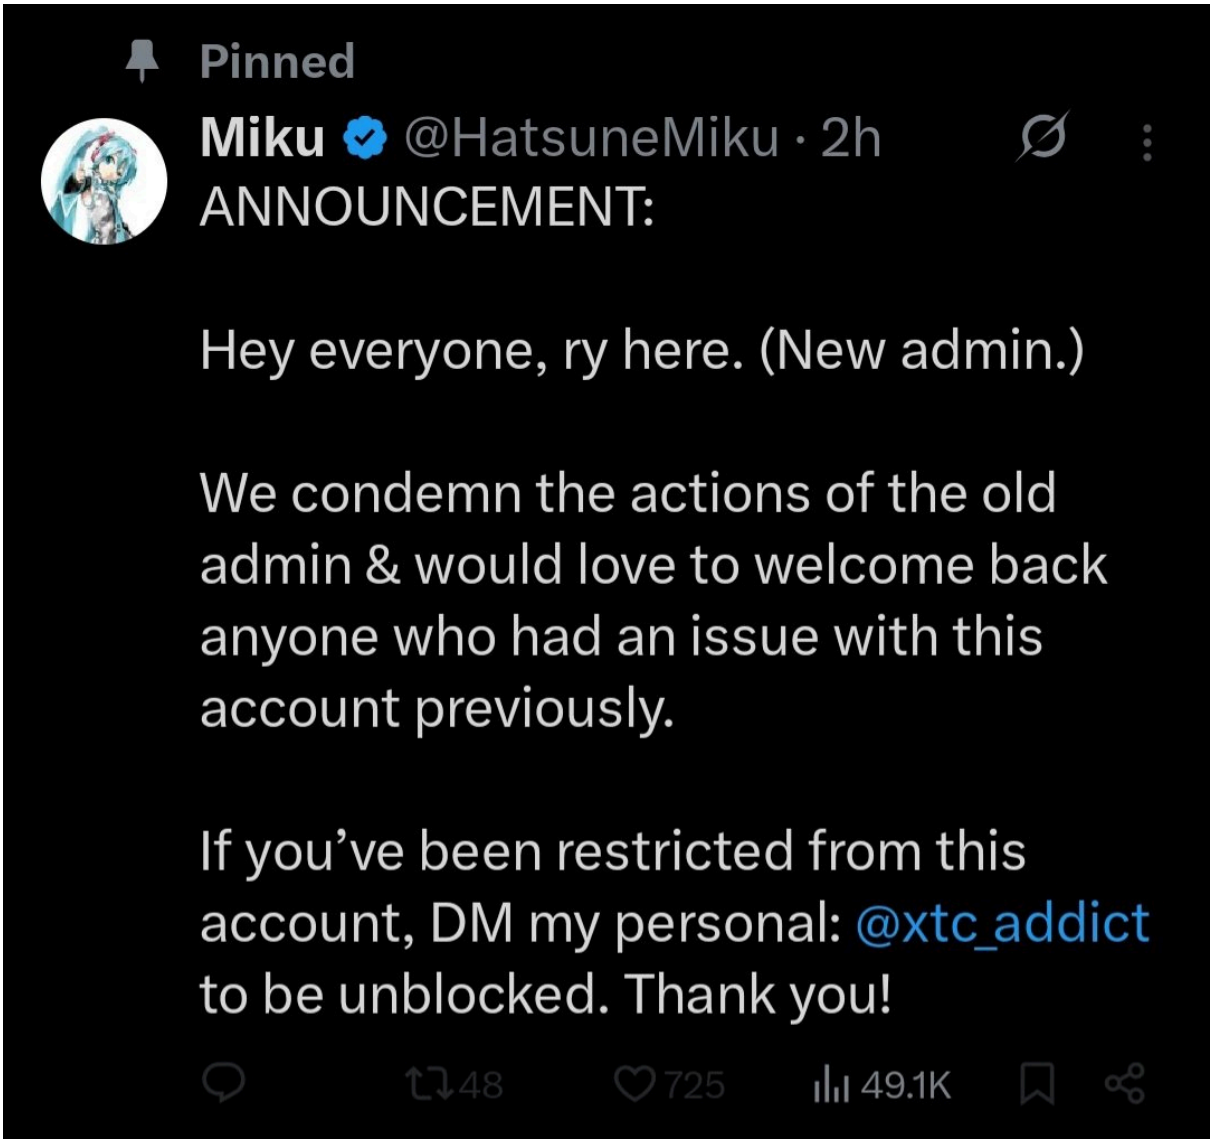

Reasons a Platform Might Take Your Handle:

- Trademark Infringement: If your handle is the same or confusingly similar to a registered trademark, especially for a large company or brand, they can claim it.
- Impersonation: If you're pretending to be someone else (a celebrity, another brand, etc.), platforms will often intervene.

. @hatsunemiku You know, doing this to me specifically, out of everyone youve been involved with ... it just proves to me what ive thought since the very beginning. You've never changed behavior, its always been the same owner, and youre just scared to lose easy money that you dont deserve. You just had to leave me alone. But youre so wrapped up in your own bullshit you dont realize youre just making this worse on yourself.
To single out a person you belittled about attempting to take their own life, it shows me youre scared. And you really fucked with the wrong one.
